

Hans Jochem Kolb Research Award 2022

Call for applications

The scientific committee of the upcoming biannual conference on GvH/GvL is pleased to offer the Hans Jochem Kolb research award (5000.-€) for outstanding contributions in the field of hematopoietic stem cell transplantation immunology, especially biology of graft-versus-host disease and graft-versus leukemia reactions. The award is supported by an educational grant from Neovii Biotech GmbH, Gräfelfing.

The selection will be undertaken by the scientific committee of the meeting under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Hans Jochem Kolb. The award will be presented virtually during the Regensburg GvH/GvL meeting in March 2022.

To apply for the award candidates should submit a paper published or accepted for publication during the year 2020 or 2021. The candidates should not be older than 40 years. Applications for the award should include the paper and a CV and be submitted by email to Professor Ernst Holler via e-mail ernst.holler@klinik.uni-regensburg.de by February 20, 2022.